

---

21. (New) The invention of Claim 1, wherein application of electric current to the coils generates a magnetic flux path that is continuous through the annular gap and the annular opening.

Bt 22. (New) The invention of Claim 1, wherein the first seat including said first magnetic structure, and the second seat including said second magnetic structure, form an essentially non-separable, single magnetic assembly.

---